COVID-19 STATEMENT

To Our Valued Customers and Suppliers,

The COVID-19 pandemic is having an unprecedented impact on all of us. To protect the health and safety of our employees, customers, suppliers, and the general public, ALARA Consultants Inc. (ALARA) has implemented a variety of mitigation strategies to stop the spread of the virus and minimize risk. The mitigation strategies in our COVID-19 policy include implement safe distancing, increased cleaning/disinfecting practices, and enabling some employees to work from home.

ALARA's operations are considered an essential service, therefore our Edmonton facility remains open during our normal business hours (08:00 – 16:30 MST). Most services have only been marginally affected, however we have implemented some changes to affected services.

Unaffected Services

will continue to operate as normal

- Survey meter calibrations, repair, & sales
- Laboratory services (leak tests & swipes)
- NORM & radioactive sample analysis
- Medical source sales
- Nuclear medicine equipment sales
- Urgent regulatory matter or an emergency involving radioactive materials
- Phone/conference consultation

Affected Services

- In-person training has been temporarily postponed & replaced with virtual & online training
- All non-essential air travel has ceased
- All non-essential field work (via road travel) has been postponed
- Nuclear gauge storage and disposal – contact ALARA to discuss options

Please be advised, our ability to distribute products is subject to the impact of COVID-19 on our suppliers and service providers. We will notify any customers that are affected by this.

ALARA will continue to monitor the evolving COVID-19 situation and implement recommendations from both provincial and federal authorities.

Sincerely,
